

Joe Hollingsworth

10th District

DEC 6 '57

El Pueblo

With the appointment of Joe E. Hollingsworth as Councilman from the 10th District August 25, the City Council once again finds itself at its full strength of 15 members.

Born in Los Angeles, Hollingsworth is well known in the 10th District. A resident for 27 years, he is a businessman in real estate and construction.

But the new Councilman is probably better known for his record of community service.

When a crossing guard was needed at Baldwin Hills School, he raised the money among local residents until the city could be convinced of the need.

He has participated in the March of Dimes, Community Chest, Red Cross, and other civic campaigns. A veteran of World War II, he was co-founder of Baldwin Hills Post 706, American Legion, and later became its commander.

In 1959, Hollingsworth co-founded the Southern California Pop Warner Football Federation and since then has served as its president, treasurer, and board member.

He has also served on the Youth Baseball Commission of the American Legion and has been an active worker in 10th District Little League activities.
