

SAVE THE BOOKS CATALOG

Patterned after the sphinxes which symbolically guard the main stairwell of the Central Library, these meticulously crafted models were created by Los Angeles-born artist Michael D. Medina, a multi-media sculptor and jewelry designer.

Money raised from the sale of items in this catalog will be used solely to restore the Los Angeles Central Library collection which was struck by arson in 1986. All fund-raising costs are contributed by ARCO.

These pewter alloy sphinxes rest on an Incolay marble base. Each weighs 8 pounds. Use in pairs as bookends or standing alone as objets d'art. $150 per pair; $80 for one.
